Tokenomics

Safemoon's tokenomics revolve around a deflationary model. Each transaction incurs a nominal fee and no tax, a portion of which is redistributed to existing holders. Simultaneously, a percentage of tokens is burned, reducing the total supply over time. This dual mechanism discourages rapid sell-offs, stabilizing the token's value and promoting a strong and committed community of holders. Safemoon also introduces liquidity pool acquisition, ensuring a steady pool of liquidity to facilitate seamless transactions.
